309 I disagree "they're getting to be terroristic and blocking right to assembly" because they are scared of the possibility of a million armed, angry protestors descending on the city. I say make their fears a reality!

Same. I regularly go camping in worse weather than they are expecting in DC.

125 ▼ I have learned that many people can't understand how others think. Only how they think. And they live life believing that everyone thinks like them. These twinks wouldn't fight to save their own mothers if they had to camp out side in order to pull it off. So they just assume we wouldn't ether. It's a sad miscalculation.

Though the counter point it with out a locked door we would be more vulnerable to their late night Attacks. So maybe that's the plan. Make us camp then attack us in our sleep.

17 ▼ | “ how others think.

To be fair, I have a difficult time figuring out HOW the leftist mobs think too. I understand WHAT they think, but HOW eludes me.

I'd argue that's the principal difference between us and them, they have no understanding of what or how, and we may not understand how, but by and large we understand what they think, we just can't fathom the level of retardation required to come to their conclusions.

9 ▼ They have no sense of history, philosophy, logic, or empathy. The problem with trying to learn how they think is that one must put ideas and actions into a coherent (albeit flawed) system. These people don't think that way; to them, whatever provides the most utility in the moment is correct. "Thinking" is a tool of the oppressors, only "feeling" matters. Leftism of any stripe is simply taking any systematic idea or undertaking and removing the focal point. Once all is relative and therefore permissible, any action can be justified ex post facto.

This, and also that leftists are dumb.

13 I agree with all that except the 'several dozens' - antifa and BLM are sending tens of thousands, to our million plus (I expect 2.5 million with at least 1 million of those armed and ready to stand and fight) - they will get thousands of themselves killed before they understand it's not worth the couple hundred bucks a day Soros is paying them. January 6th must be decisive in ending the paid marxist mobs reign of terror. They've proposed sending us to gulags, re education camps, forced vaccines, forced business closings, closing schools, and ending free elections permanently - this is not a time for warnings or half measures.

4 Oh, several dozen is just a start. I was just talking about the initial video/photographs. That will be all it takes for them to clam up.

After that, we hit them where they live. By the time we're done putting these freaks down the dead will be numbered in the tens of thousands. All the begging and pleading won't spare them.

These smoothbrains are nothing but aggressive psychological disorder and neurosis. They possess no semblance of independent thought. They have absolutely no control over their own brains. Their minds are just pure neurotic compulsion.

The closest comparison is that they're like an automated machine glitched and gone haywire. Their synapses are like motors and servos being randomly triggered by a short circuit. There is no logic involved, just reflex.

This is what makes them so effortless to control and whip up into a psychotic frenzy. It takes nothing to trigger their next out of control fit.

A very astute observation! I am starting to wonder what the purpose of forced china flu vaccines is, since they've said even if you've gotten it, you still have to wear a mask, could still get china flu, and still have to keep your business closed. If it doesn't prevent china flu, what does it do?

How do you scare terrorists..... protests?

permalink save report block reply

2 Most of these people aren't terrorists, the worst thing that's ever happened to them was their dog died when they were 9. They're perpetual victims of their own actions, and they are creating their own hell for eternity. It's not our fault and we can't save them all from themselves.

You scare bullies by standing up to them. If Americans had fought back on 9/11 those hijackers would have crashed way before getting to downtown NY. If armed patriots had confronted those riots this past summer, they would have been put down nation wide. All it takes is a few thousand Kyle Rittenhouses to get rid of the pedophile problem.

0 A terrorist is only a terrorist if they strike terror into your heart.

▼ Attempted terrorists, maybe. They're not even real communists - they're hypocrites and usefu .

They've never lived a day or terror OR communism in their lives - they're just throwing their bouies on the pile for all I'm concerned encompasses all the DEM, AKA, CO, I believe Obama, Brennan etc..

The West is a trust based society full of naive, trusting idiots.

If 9/11 were attempted today, I'm sure there would be patriots ready to take action.

I think you're trying hard to twist what I said into something it wasn't.

There are countless examples of people taking action, and events not unfolding as tragically as planned.

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/2015_Thalys_train_attack

Am I blaming any one particular passenger on any one particular flight for doing nothing? No. I'm generally saying that if people were on the look out for fuckery things might have turned out differently.

Instead of 'trusting', some of us need to learn to 'force' the outcome we want.

Stop for a moment and think, instead of throwing accusations around that I'm some type of horrible person.

You're saying the hijackers gained entry to the cockpits without any indication to crew or passengers that something was 'up'?

If I were sitting on a bus, train, plane etc.. and the pilot was removed from operators chair, I probably wouldn't assume my destination remained the same.

You're right, there were like 145 plane-jacking incidents (notable ones anyways), according to wikifag, so what I am saying and what I was saying before - is that if they had of been a little more situationally aware of their surroundings and only 1-2% of them acted, it could have changed things. Might not have, but could have.

Same goes for dozens of roles along the chain of command that day, I was generalizing and not throwing shade on any one person there either. I think none of us know what happened, only that 'something' happened.

For all we know someone Did try to take action that morning, unsuccessfully. My point stands that we need more people who are willing to take action rather than be a bys to their own destruction

This is a call for terroristic threats against a business that wants to accommodate us.

We need to demand that the relevant local police keep the peace. They know how to do that, if the mayor and city council allow them to do so. Place this problem squarely in the mayor's lap.
